Their Story: The single most important element to a dog's life (after he has found the love of his human) is his daily diet. The food you put in your dog's body, more than anything else, will determine his future health, happiness, energy levels, and perhaps even his vet bills. 100% of the ingredients we use to make JustFoodForDogs are approved for human consumption. We are particularly proud of the nutritional profiles of our recipes. Each of our daily diets is completely balanced and university researched to achieve the maximum levels of nutrient requirements using fresh whole foods.
